1. Matija, a young woman from Serbia who comes to the United States to escape the war in her home country.

2. Zora, a middle-aged woman from Bosnia who comes to the United States to join her family.
3. Davor, a young man from Croatia who comes to the United States to pursue his dream of becoming a professional soccer player.
4. Daria, a young woman from Mexico who comes to the United States to work as a nanny.

These four characters come from different backgrounds and have different reasons for coming to the United States. However, they all share a common experience: they are all immigrants who are trying to build a new life in a new country.

The Challenges

The four main characters in "America Is Immigrants" face a number of challenges as they try to build a new life in the United States. These challenges include:

- Language barriers: The four main characters all come from non-English-speaking countries. This can make it difficult for them to communicate with others and to access services.
- Cultural differences: The four main characters all come from different cultures. This can lead to misunderstandings and conflict.
- Discrimination: The four main characters all face discrimination because they are immigrants. This can make it difficult for them to find jobs, housing, and other services.
- Isolation: The four main characters all feel isolated at times. This is because they are away from their families and friends and because they may not have a strong support system in the United States.

The Rewards

Despite the challenges they face, the four main characters in "America Is Immigrants" also experience a number of rewards as they build a new life in the United States. These rewards include:

- Freedom: The four main characters all find a sense of freedom in the United States. This is because they are free to express themselves, to pursue their dreams, and to live their lives as they choose.
- Opportunity: The United States offers the four main characters a chance to improve their lives and to achieve their dreams. This is something that they would not have been able to do in their home countries.
- Community: The four main characters all find a sense of community in the United States. This is because they are surrounded by other immigrants who have similar experiences and who can offer them support.
- Hope: The four main characters all have hope for the future. They believe that they can build a better life for themselves and for their families in the United States.
